INTERNET FILTERING FOR FAMILIES

Safe Internet for desktops and laptops

Protecting your family online - from anywhere

The Internet is a valuable and informative resource for families. However, such a vast resource comes with a number of dangers. For example, children risk exposure to pornography while online, with up to 90% of children aged 8-16 having viewed pornography online, many while doing homework. With unrestricted and unmonitored access, children are potentially exposed to harmful material and personal data may be compromised. Malicious content (e.g. viruses) may be inadvertently downloaded via email, blogs, and other apparently harmless Internet facilities. Parents need to be aware of safe Internet use guidelines and ways of protecting their families against these potential risks.

ContentKeeper® is committed to helping to protect families and communities in the Internet age.
